

EXPLORING ANGOLA'S AGRI POTENTIAL: Insights Ahead of the Trade Mission

4 September | 14:00-15:15 CEST | Webinar

Angola, aiming for economic diversification and food security, presents strong opportunities for Dutch businesses. With rising demand for poultry, abundant farmland, and a push to reduce imports, Angola is a promising market for Dutch expertise in poultry, feed, and cold chain logistics. Its fertile soils and growing population also call for climate-smart agriculture, while investments in corridors like Lobito open doors for integrated agri-logistics value chains.

Join us on the 4th of September at 14:00 CEST for a dedicated webinar ahead of the upcoming Agricultural Trade Mission to Angola (6–10 October 2025). This session will provide key insights into the country's market potential and highlight why Dutch businesses are uniquely positioned to contribute to Angola's food system transformation.

Programme Highlights:

- Opening by Ambassador Salvador Allende Jesus, representing MIREX and the Consulate General in Rotterdam.
- Presentation by AIPEX: "Why Angola, Why Now? Unlocking Strategic Opportunities for Dutch Trade and Investments" covering Angola's investment priorities, key growth sectors (poultry, horticulture, logistics), and available incentives.
- Panel Discussion featuring Dutch and Angolan companies active in poultry and horticulture, and insights from Rabobank.
- Opportunity to ask questions, engage with speakers, and prepare for the October mission.
